The screenshot shows the Netsparker interface with a vulnerability report titled "Admin User DB Connection". The report includes a table of contents with links to "Admin User DB Connection", "Vulnerability Summary", "Non-Technical", "Impact", "Remediation", and "External References". A summary section states: "Netsparker identified that the target web site connecting the backend database by using a user that has administrative privileges. This issue has been confirmed by checking the connection privileges via an identified SQL Injection vulnerability in the application." The severity is marked as "Important" and the source is "freesoftwarefree.com". A vulnerability chart at the bottom shows various issues categorized by severity (Important, Medium, Low, Information).
